

SO, WHAT HAPPENS NEXT?

Landscaping of the site is now completed and planting of trees and shrubs will commence during the Autumn once things have cooled down. The hard landscaping including all the traditional brick planters, lightly-coloured footpaths, and paving are now installed. The Hive Pergola is being installed early to ensure the Corten Steel weathers naturally in time for the 2027 Opening. The UNITY TREE has arrived, it's looking great but will remain under wraps until next Spring. While the garden may be open to the public before then it will not be fully completed until the UNITY TREE has been unveiled which we hope to invite you to, sometime in May 2027.

We'll keep you posted.

In advance of that and to help decorate the garden for opening day, we would like to invite you to decorate bunting for us to display on opening day.

BUNTING FIT FOR A QUEEN BEE!

Thanks to Ebony, Kaye, Sally Clarke, Jackie Vines, Sue Howgate and Sally Anne Walsh for their beautiful contributions and support so far Firstly, collect your 'free bunt' from either the Swan pub or Matthew at Yeats Cottage Hillview while stocks last. You can decorate your bunt however you wish (so long as its family friendly ;-)) on one or two sides. You can paint, draw, embroider, potato print, applique even use permanent markers to create your design, the only request is that your design is waterproof, so no waterbased paints or pens please. Please consider the environment too. When you are done please return your creations to Matthew or the Swan Pub and we'll sort the rest. Instructions are included with each 'bunt'. The children of Great Kimble School have already beautifully decorated 100 bunts. So now it's your turn to get those creative juices flowing and make bunting fit for a queen bee.
